Practice Summary

With over fifteen years of state and federal civil litigation experience, Liz Beckman focuses her practice primarily in the areas of business litigation, premises liability, construction law, and general liability insurance defense throughout California. Regardless of the practice area, however, Liz is adept at quickly acquiring the requisite legal and technical knowledge necessary for handling novel areas of law in various fields. This enables her to resolve legal disputes pragmatically while adhering to her clients' guidelines and expectations.

In addition to her legal prowess, Liz brings a personalized touch to her practice, understanding the importance of building strong client relationships. Her commitment to excellence, coupled with a passion for delivering results, sets Liz apart as a trusted advocate for her clients' legal needs. Whether navigating complex business disputes or providing steadfast defense in liability cases, Liz combines legal acumen with a client-centric approach, ensuring optimal outcomes and satisfaction.

Liz earned her law degree cum laude from Pepperdine School of Law in 2008 and achieved magna cum laude honors from the University of California, Los Angeles in 2005. Despite her Southern Californian roots, Liz now calls the greater San Francisco Bay Area home, where she resides with her rescue mutt, Stevie.
