Practice Summary

M.J. has been practicing in insurance defense since 2009, priding herself on working collaboratively and congenially with clients to reach favorable, fair resolutions. M.J. graduated with a B.A. in both English and Communications from Boston College, where she served as a sports journalist for The Heights. She then attended Villanova Law School, during which time she was published in the Moorad Sports Law Journal.

M.J. is admitted in both federal and state court in New Jersey and Pennsylvania, as well as before the United States Supreme Court. Her favorite legal moment was making eye contact with and getting a smile from Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg during her admission swearing-in ceremony.

In her free time, M.J. enjoys attending Philadelphia Flyers and Union games, cheering on the Birds, supporting Arsenal Football Club, frequenting concerts, playing with her puppy/shadow Dalton, and watching her significant other skate for Penn Jersey Roller Derby.
