Practice Summary

Stephen Parrey brings over a decade of courtroom experience, in both civil and criminal defense litigation, and appellate practice. He has handled an array of matters pertaining to general liability, Title 59 claims, civil rights, employment, workers compensation, and local government. He has also obtained numerous favorable results throughout New Jersey's criminal and municipal courts, with a majority of his cases resulting in dismissal, diversion, or a substantial reduction in charges.

Stephen believes in proactively defending his clients, and aggressively pursuing pre-trial motions when settlement cannot be achieved. He is admitted to practice in New Jersey, the U.S. District Court for New Jersey, and the U.S. Supreme Court.

Outside the office, Stephen enjoys snowboarding, spending time at the shore, and rooting for the Philadelphia sports teams - especially the Flyers.
